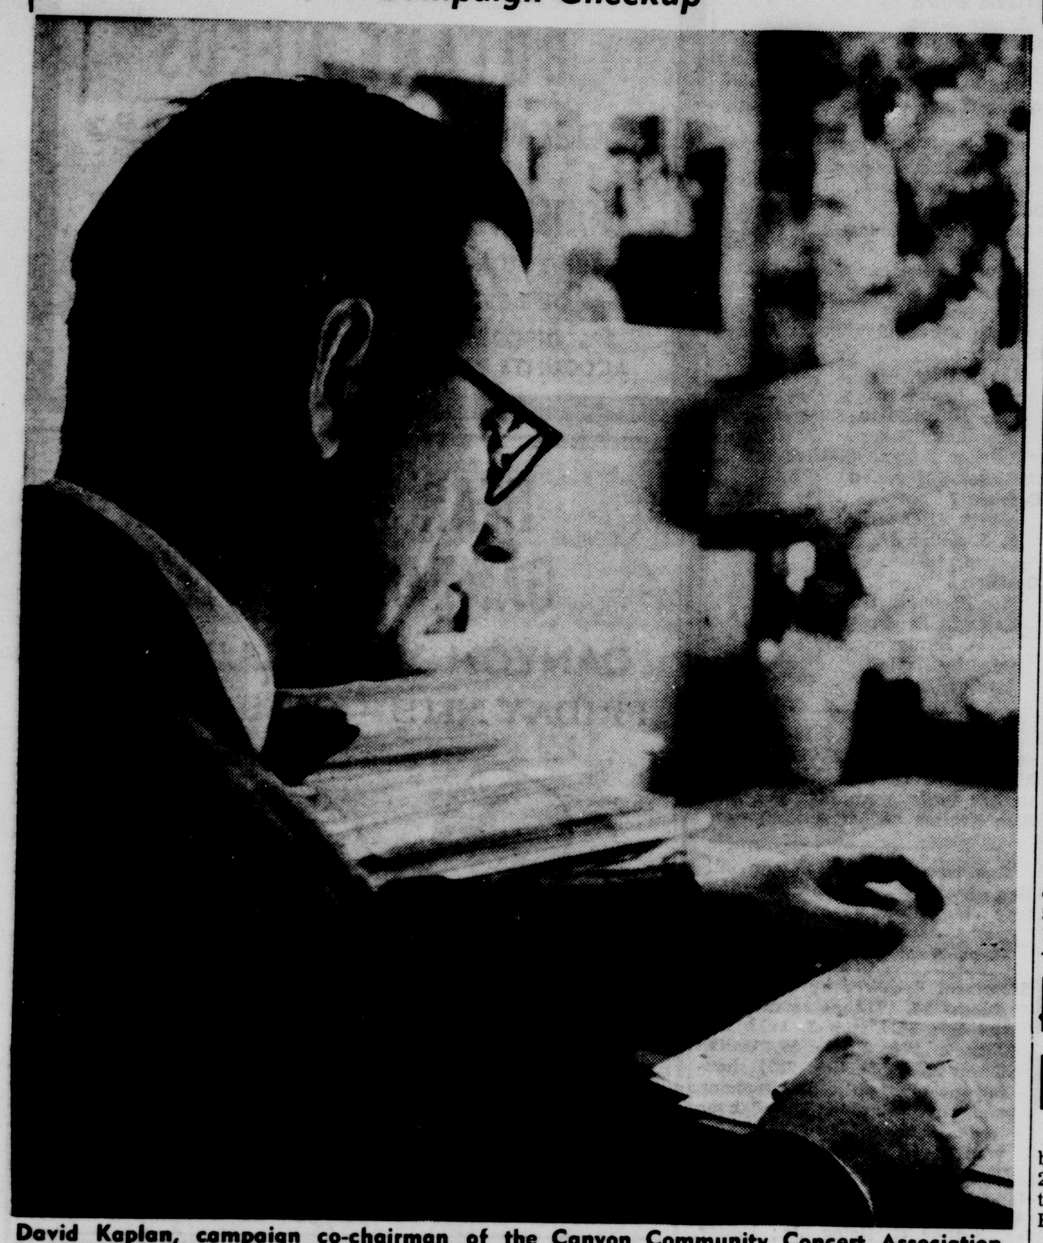
Campaign Checkup



David Kaplan, campaign co-chairman of the Canyon Community Concert Association, checks a worker's kit for the membership campaign which bega nthis week. The first week of the campaign is devoted to obtaining membership renewals, and the second week will be spent in canvassing prospective new members. The renewal program is now underway, and the member drive begins after a workers dinner Monday night. The campaign will close on Oct. 9, and the season's programs will be selected by the board of directors in a meeting Friday. Co-chairman with Kaplan is Milton Morris.

Buffaloes Believed in Best Shape Since Season Began for Tempe Tilt

Despite the fact they have dropped two in a row, West Texas State's Buffaloes find themselves in the best physical condition of the season this week as they prepare for Border Conference favorite, Arizona State.

Coach Clark Jarnagin's Buffs will help the Sun Devils inaugurate their new 30,450-seat stadium Saturday night at Tempe. It will be the first conference outing for both clubs. Arizona State won the crown last year with a 4-0 mark and West Texas finished second with a 3-1 standing.

Physically, the Buffs will have several boys at top strength for the first time this year. Center Carroll Stafford, 200-pound Amarillo junior, cracked an ankle the second day of workouts and played sparingly against Texas Tech last week. He's ready now and will help plug a sagging West Texas defense.

Leon Manley, 215-pound junior guard, was injured in the season opener against Virginia Tech and was used on a limited basis last week. He too will be in top condition for the conference opener.

"Our defense has been weak in our first two games," analyzes Coach Jarnagin, in his first season as Buffalo boss. The Buffs bowed to Virginia Tech, 28-12, and Texas Tech, 32-7, and will be playing their straight road game against last season's 12-ranked team in the nation, Arizona State.

The only bright light in defeat has been Bob "Red Dog" Ratliff, a solid All-America contender. The 6-2, 215-pound Buff fullback has scored 13 points and gained 136 yards rushing in the two starts, 82 of which came against Texas Tech.

The 36-man Buff traveling squad is scheduled to leave Texas at 1 p. m. Friday by chartered plane and work out on the Arizona State campus later that afternoon. Probable starters:

LE—Fred Hedgecoke, 185; LT—Eddie Meyer, 215; LG—Jerry Epps, 225; C—Carroll Stafford, 200; RG — Leon Manley, 215; RT—Ray Kauffman, 200; RE—Tommy Coffey, 190; QB—Bobby Davis, 165; LH—Jim Hadaway, 188; RH—Rex Loftis, 190; FB—Bob Ratliff, 215.

Babe Ruthers Plan Meeting

Election of officers and plans for starting an American Legion team are on the agenda for a meeting of the Babe Ruth League Tuesday night in the West Texas State fieldhouse.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Monday night, but was changed due to a conflict with the West Texas Touchdown Club. It will start at 8 p. m.

Also to be discussed will be the advisability of having Little League graduates taken into the league now rather than waiting until spring. Coffee will be served.

Fathers of Little League graduates are especially invited to the meeting.

FM 1541 Paving Contract Given

A contract for construction of 12.2 miles on FM 1541 was awarded in Austin this week to Ivan Dement, Inc., of Amarillo.

The paving, an extension of the Washington Street road, will be from the Palo Duro highway south to the Wayside road. The contract calls for 150 working days to completion.

Dumas Demons Dump Canyon

Operating behind an unusually big forward wall, Dumas ran up 259 yards on the ground and four touchdowns to beat the Canyon Eagles 26-0 Friday night in Dumas.

The Demons, of District 1-AAA, controlled the ball 77 plays to 53 for Canyon. The Eagles managed 46 yards rushing and 45 passing.

Soon after the opening kickoff, Dumas showed their strength by taking the ball on a 56-yard drive for a touchdown in the first quarter. They scored again in the second quarter, in the third and in the fourth.

The Eagles drove down to the Demon 30 just before the end of the game. Earlier, Dumas' Tommy Jones was prepared to kick on the Dumas 47 but the snap from center was over his head, and the Eagles tackled him on the Dumas 27. In two plays, the ball was on the Dumas 25—the deepest penetration that Canyon made during the night.

The Eagles began the game with Jerry Richardson at quarterback, Chuck Nester and Tommy Henderson at halfbacks and Ronnie Huyck at fullback. Eddie Boydstun, who had started the three previous games at halfback, was playing tackle.

After two series of downs by the Eagles, Dumas took the ball on their own 44 and began driving with Bud White and James Boyd alternating the carrying chore. Quinton Eppinette went over the goal line for the touchdown from the one-yard line when 3:36 was left in the quarter. White's pass attempt was not good, and the Demons had a 6-0 lead.

Both teams began a series of kick-tradings until Dumas got a kick from Boydstun on the Dumas 37 and ran it back to the Canyon 46. From there, another touchdown materialized. This time, Kenneth Keeney ran from the four for the score and White ran the extra points over to give Dumas a 14-0 lead with 4:36 left.

The half was finished with more ball-trading after four downs, and

Commission Awards $45,500 for Land

An award of $45,500 for 25 acres of land was given E. C. Hawes Friday by a condemnation commission. The award has been appealed by the attorney general, according to Virgil Henson, WT business manager.

The land, located between the West Texas campus and the dairy farm, is needed by the college for physical education facilities and student dorrmitories, according to the condemnation request filed in the case.

Henson said the college offered Hawes $23,500 for the property and Hawes asked $60,000. The hearing was held Sept. 18.

Members of the condemnation commission were Omer W. Jordan, Verlin H. Curtis and George T. Stevens Jr.

Explosion Rips Steak House

A freak explosion which was set off when a light switch was turned off damaged the Steak House about 1 a. m. today. No one was injured.

The amount of damage had not been estimated this morning, according to Bill Griffin, owner of the building. The explosion tore holes in sheetrock inside the cafe, broke a plate-glass window, shoved cracks in the outside walls, and the force of the blow knocked dishes off the shelves in the kitchen.

No outbreak of fire accompanied the blast, although the first "boom" carried a sheet of flame with it.

Max Gaines, co-owner of the business, flipped the switch that started the explosion. Gaines, the dishwasher and cook were preparing to leave for the night. The two employes were standing by the front door in the northwest corner and Gaines went to the switch in the center of the west wall.

He was standing directly in front of the switch, and the flame shot about 10 feet toward the northeast, missing Gaines. The damage was on the west and south walls.

Griffin said the explosion was probably caused by a leaking gas line. The line, which goes to Griffin's Truck Stop, was apparently leaking underground and the gas was seeping into the walls of the cafe building.

Other grand jurors are Math Albracht, Larry Holman, Dale Killingsworth, Don Armstrong, John L. Upshaw, Gordon Fielden, L. E. Hermesmeyer Sr., W. C. Roberts, A. N. Kuehler and Raymond Oldham. Fielden is foreman.

E. A. Oberst Sr. returned Thursday from a trip to his home town of Falls City, Neb., and other points of interest.

Eagles Go To Wellington Friday

Canyon High's next opponent will not be of the same caliber as the past team if their season's record is any indication.

The Eagles will meet the Wellington Skyrockets Friday night in Wellington in a non-district game.

Wellington has a 1-win, three-loss record, with high scoring in each game. The win was 30-0 over Memphis.

Losses were 40-0 to Floydada, 28-6 to Hollis, Okla., and 38-0 to Lefors.

"If we don't play good football, they can beat us," Eagle coach Bill Davis said this week. He said the Canyon team had a hard workout Monday and is in good shape for the game.

The scout report on Wellington shows the Skyrockets play wide-open pro-style football, with lots of pitchouts and ball handling.

Of the five touchdowns scored by Wellington this season, three have been by Kent Peeples. He made a 75-yard run against Hollis, a two-yard run and a 43-yard intercepted pass runback against Memphis. Peeples also scored a two-point run in the Memphis game.

Bruce Crosley made a one-yard touchdown run against Memphis and Carroll Nunnelley made a 45-yard run. Nunnelley made an extra-point run and Lonnie Roark made another.

In the first four games this season, Canyon has a 4.02-yard average for rushing, with a total of 612 yards in 152 tries. The passing totals are 36 attempts, 11 completions and 140 yards. Four passes have been intercepted.

The pass receivers have been Tommy Henderson, two for 32 yards; Mike Poole, three for 36 yards; Eddie Boydstun, three for 36 yards; Larry Brotherton, one for six yards; and Ross Bond, two for 30 yards.

The passers have been Jerry Richardson, 31 attempts, 8 completions, 105 yards and four intercepted. Henderson has thrown three for three completions and 35 yards. Boydstun and Chuck Nester have thrown one each, with no completions.

Boydstun, Henderson and Richardson are neck and neck for rushing honors. Boydstun has 31 carries and 144 yards, Henderson has 31 carries and 148 yards; and Richardson has 41 carries and 149 yards.

Ronnie Huyck has 32 carries and 119 yards, Nester has 15 carries and 61 yards, and Brotherton has two carries and one yard.

Richardson is the leading scorer with five touchdowns, 30 points. He threw a pass to Brotherton for the sixth touchdown belonging to the team.

Henderson and Nester have extra point runs, and Boydstun kicked a field goal in the Hereford game.

The teams Canyon has played racked up 974 yards in 243 carries, a 4-yard average. They have attempted 24 passes, completed nine for 78 yards, and have had four passes intercepted.

Nothing Gained, Wages Lost

Probably we're dense, and not too hep on the subject, but we could not see the wisdom of the labor-management battle that occurred last week in Amarillo, and spilled over into Canyon on the two new buildings on the WT campus. (Although the information from Amarillo all week was that the strike caused a shutdown in Amarillo and Canyon, we took a look around and found only two projects of 11 shut down.)

As we all heard, the strike was started by the Teamsters Union against Crowe-Guilde Cement Company. The plant here was not picketed, but was shut down.

When the Teamsters set up picket lines at the Amarillo Crowe-Guilde plant, the railroad union members would not cross it to deliver raw materials. Railroad company officials manned the switch engines, however, and materials were delivered.

Later, the Teamsters sent out "roving" pickets who would walk in front of construction projects using Crowe-Guilde products. So, in conformation to orders from somewhere above, the construction union workers walked off the job. In retaliation, the contractors just closed up shop, and material dealers figured they might as well, too.

And after a week, the construction workers decided to go back to work, and the contractors opened up again. And what was gained?

As we see it from a distance, nothihg. The loss was greater. The carpenters and bricklayers, electricians and metal workers—all of the building trades union members—lost a week's wages. The shutdown probably didn't hurt the contractors, except their capital equipment lay idle for a while.

The Teamster-Crowe-Guilde dispute has not been settled we understand. Nothing was gained in the display of power, and as usual, the working staff got it in the neck again. Unions, per se, are fine, in our opinion, but unionism is just like too many other "isms."

Educational TV

If the high schools in Little Rock stayed closed longer, and if the educationists there seize the opportunity, the nation will have a good chance to see if educational television is workable at this time.

We realize that television will probably not work for laboratory courses, but there's a chance it will in lecture courses. We read one comment from a student that may prove the downfall of educational TV.

Of a math course, one girl said, "There's no one to go for help when you need it."

But the opportunity for a first-class test is here, and we hope that the Little Rock people take advantage of it.

Last Chance

Friday, at closing time, is the last date for former non-residents and minors who have become eligible by reason of length of residence or age to obtain exemption certificates and vote in the November general election.

The statutes require that the exemptions be obtained at least 30 days prior to an election.

Former non-residents must have lived in the state one year and the county six months prior to the election in order to be eligible. Young people who have reached the age of 21 are also eligible.

The November election is pretty-near cut and dried, although there are nine constitutional amendments to be voted on. If you are in the right categories, and desire to vote, be sure to use your last chance before Friday evening.

Explanation

Many people have wondered why a group of lawyers in Amarillo worked so hard for the re-election of County Judge Roy Joe Stevens. Last week we had the opportunity of talking with one of them, and he told us why.

He said that the judge is accommodating, and that makes it nice for the lawyers. Our friend said that Judge Stevens has an office in Amarillo (he said that everyone knows it although the judge tries to keep it secret) and spends quite a bit of time there.

Our friend said that when he has a case to be filed in Canyon, he calls Judge Stevens in his Amarillo law office and tells the judge about it. The judge then says he'll drop by our friend's office and pick up the papers and bring them to Canyon for filing the next time he comes down.

Now that's a real service, and we can see how lawyers would like that. And it does a good job of answering "Why?".

Need More Flash

Those who went to Lubbock Saturday night were treated to a fine display of marching ability and a whopping good show by the West Texas State band. In contrast, Texas Tech's band, much larger and sporting brand new uniforms, looked positively uninspired.

Only one thing would have added to the Buffalo Band's show. That would be uniforms that sparkle and flash. If the Buffalo Band had been suited out with white and maroon—the school colors, by the way—just thinking what a flashy appearance they would have made.

We'd like to suggest to the WT administration that a uniform of white coats and bright maroon trousers be considered the next time a change of uniforms is due. And, we'd like to suggest further, that a change of uniforms can't come too soon.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

On the Capitol grounds in Nashville is the grave of James K. Polk. The inscription makes no mention of the fact that, as President, he added Texas to the United States:

"By his public policy he defined, established and extended the boundaries of his country. He planted the laws of the American Union on the shores of the Pacific."

As Polk's death occurred less than four years after Texas became a state, the author of the inscription — not gifted with prophecy —did not foresee that Texas would prove to be an empire in itself; first in cattle, cotton, sulphur and oil.

Polk was a "dark horse" for the Democratic presidential nomination. In fact, the telegraph had just come into use and this news was one of the first — if not the first — items ever sent over the wire; and many people thought it was a hoax.

However, Polk had been governor of Tennessee and speaker of the National House of Representatives; furthermore, he had, no doubt, the backing of a very influential man, Andrew Jackson, a Tennessan of course.

An elderly lawyer in Weatherford, the late Judge R. B. Hood, a good many years ago told me that his mother lived in Tennessee and, as a girl, carried a banner in a Polk parade, the words having been written in the juice of polkberries.

Polk was 54 when he died in 1849. His wife also is buried there. She was eight years younger and she lived to be 88, dying in 1891. So she outlived her husband by 42 years. To one visitor, the dates suggested a story of long and tragic loneliness.

A statue on the Capitol grounds pays tribute to Sam Davis, who was only 21 years old when he died. The carved words relate that he was a member of a Confederate company of scouts and was in uniform when he was captured. In his possession were papers describing the Union forces and fortifications. He was offered his life if he would reveal who gave him the papers. He answered, "I would die a thousand deaths before I would betray a friend." He was executed.

The monument was erected by donations from every State in the Union.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Ben Ezzell in the Canadian Record: There's been a continuing storm in Texas newspapers since the close of the State Democratic Convention in San Antonio three weeks ago . . . . with the usual charges and counter-charges of "we wuz robbed" coming from the various factions of the widely-split Texas Democratic Party . . . none of which should come as any surprise.

The plain fact of the matter is that the state Democratic Convention, like most other political conventions held by this and other political parties the nation over, is about as "democratic" in the ing of the Comintern in Russia. true sense of the word, as a meet-The majority rules, all right . . . but it's a majority carefully selected and instructed in advance.

The rank-and-file of citizens and party members, who theoretically select and instruct the delegates to these conventions, have long since abdicated their power by the simple process of staying away from their precinct conventions in droves. The precinct conventions where delegates are picked and instructed are, almost without exception these days, controlled by a militant minority with a flair for politics.

At the typical precinct and county convention, the faction in control selects a slate of delegates who can be depended upon to take orders . . . and then pushes through a set of mimeographed resolutions instructing the delegation which have been prepared in advance at the state political headquarters of that particular faction. Little or nothing is left to chance . . . and certainly the individual delegate isn't expected to do any individual thinking. If he tries to, he probably won't be a delegate next time.

The delegates themselves are just for show. By the time the state convention rolls around, all the important decisions have been made and the convention voting is generally a foregone conclusion . . . unless there's been a decidedly even split in the battle for the precincts.

This year it was fairly obvious to experienced observers that the so-called "conservatives" headed by Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn, had controlled a big majority of delegate strength, leaving a minority to the party's so-called "liberals" for whom Ralph Yarborough is the titular chieftain. The results at the convention is-self, then, couldn't have been any surprise to the professional pols, and shouldn't have been any surprise to anybody else who can read.

It's part of the game, however, for the losers to cry "foul" . . . and that shouldn't be any surprise, either. The thing that continues to surprise us, however, is the number of otherwise intelligent newspaper editors who register wide-eyed shock at these goings-on, and echo the cries of the wounded politicians with an air of injured innocence.

Sure, we think it's a lousy system, too . . . but we the people have brought it on ourselves and it's going to continue to operate that way until a majority of us decide to take a personal hand in the control of our government through our political parties. Until that time comes we're not going to waste any emotion on the hurt feelings of the political big-shots who came out second-best in the organizing. With these characters, it's just a question of who can get in the low blows first.

Former Canyonite Retires from Post Office in Oklahoma After 33 Years

By OLA C. HOPKINS
Hollis, Okla.

Winning the title, "Hollis' friendly postal clerk," J. B. Fowler is now stepping down from behind the Hollis postal windows after a career of 33 years and five months in the U. S. postal service.

"He always has a smile, a joke, or friendly greeting as extra bonus . . . we'll miss him," a customer summed up the general opinion of the Hollis postoffice customers.

Not that Fowler is leaving Hollis. "Just retiring from one job to another," Fowler explained as he spoke of plans to give more time to an 80-acre irrigation farm adjoining Hollis townsite on the northwest he has recently acquired.

"It will take my time just learning the farm business. Since I've had no experience, I have to learn the hard way, but it is fascinating. I want to add livestock," the genial postal official added.

Fowler came to Hollis 20 years ago. Prior to that time he had spent 13 years as clerk and rural carrier at Canyon.

Asked about retiring Fowler said that he felt about as he did when graduating from high school. . . there's a sadness and regret along with happiness.

Of his tenure of service in the post office, Fowler said that associations in both offices where he had worked were pleasant. "A finer group couldn't be found from the postmaster to the custodians. They are all fine," he observed. Working conditions have improved in the 33 years of service when he began at 65 cents per hour as substitute clerk to the present program under civil service today which is much better than the old days, he said.

A graduate of Canyon High School he attended the West Texas State College at Canyon more than four years.

He has spent more than six and one-half years in military service, including more than three years in World War I in the Army and more than two years in World War II in the U. S. Navy.

Of his transfer to Hollis, Fowler observed, "Looking back over my life, I see many mistakes, some tragic, but moving to Hollis was not one of them. The friendliness here captivated me from the first day." This he expressed in a poem a few months after his arrival here.

Active in civic and social circles of Hollis, Fowler is a popular entertainer, especially with blackfaced skits. He has been active in Kiwanis club work and is an ardent member of the Navy club which he helped to organize, the American Legion and is also active member of the Harmon County chamber of commerce, vegetable growers association, Hollis Riding Club and Hollis Sportsman club.

Soon after coming to Hollis he married his wife, Mary, and they have recently renovated their attractive brick home. The couple has three children by former marriages, including his daughter, Mrs. Jeff Jenkins, Midland, Texas; his son, Bob, of Roswell, N. M., and her son, Charles Simpson, Abilene, Texas. They have three grandchildren. "All our children are graduates of college," Fowler rejoiced.

Travel Authority To Appear Here

Carol Lane, nationally-known authority on travel trends and novel motoring ideas, will address the Oct. 15 meeting of the Future Homemakers of Canyon High School.

Miss Lane, who as Women's Travel Director of Shell Oil Co., travels more than 60,000 miles throughout America annually, will discuss the wonders of "Auto-Magic Vacationing."

The talk will be given in the high school auditorium at 7:45 p. m., according to Judy Taylor, club president.

Miss Lane has announced that her topic refers to the many wonders and pleasures now available to the American family embarking on a typical weekend or two-week vacation. Her talk will include discussions of tourette vacations, how to travel with children, family camping and travel budgeting.

One feature of her presentation that has been the highlight for many previous audiences is a short bag-packing demonstration during which a 26-inch suitcase is used for packing a complete two-week wardrobe.

Miss Lane, in addition to appearing before women's groups, has written numerous booklets on touring, has appeared on hundreds of TV programs and prepares a weekly column called "Tips for Touring."

Woolsey Finishes Combat Training

Speech Teachers On TSA Program

The six faculty members of the speech department at West Texas State College will attend and participate on the program of the 33rd annual convention of the Texas Speech Association.

The association will hold a joint meeting with the Texas Speech and Hearing Association in Waco. The three-day convention opens Thursday in Waco's Roosevelt Hotel, with about 300 junior and senior high school and college speech teachers expected.

Dr. Crannell Tolliver, head of the WT speech department, is vice-president of T.S.A., and was program chairman for the joint convention. Sectional programs will deal with dramatics, interpretation, forensics, debate, contests, children's theatre, radio and television, speech training for religious workers, and other fields of speech and speech correction.

Featured speaker for the meetings will be Dr. Johnnye Akin, professor of speech at the University of Denver, who is vice-president of the Western Speech Association. She will speak at a dinner Friday and at a luncheon Saturday to close the convention.

Dr. Wendell Cain, associate professor, will be a member of a panel discussing problems of teaching interpretation, and Dr. Jack Walker, associate professor, will speak on "Education Via Commercial Outlet" at a radio-television section meeting.

Speaking on "Greater Literary Value in Contest Plays" will be William A. Moore, associate professor, and C. L. Farr, WT debate coach, will be on a critique panel evaluating a debate between Southern Methodist University and Baylor University teams. Robert L. Antrim, Branding Iron Theatre technical director, will participate on a panel on financing college drama programs.

Dimmitt, Tex., Man Reports—
"Ammonia makes a big difference in my wheat"

Frank S. Wise, who farms 960 acres near Dimmitt, says: "I know from experience that Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia makes a big difference in my wheat yields. I figure I'm getting an average of 20 bushels more to the acre by putting down 80 to 100 pounds of Phillips ammonia pre-plant."

Other successful Southwestern farmers use Phillips 66 ammonia to give them higher grain yields . . . and more profitable grazing. The 82% nitrogen in Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia gives young wheat a fast start, supplies plenty of lush, protein-rich forage that puts on more beef at less cost per pound.

Many of these farmers plow down Phillips 66 ammonia in the fall on maize land. They know that 82% nitrogen helps decompose crop residue, to provide extra plant food and make the soil more productive. Remember, Phillips 66 ammonia gives you more nitrogen per dollar than any other form of fertilizer—a full 82%.

Olds Introduces SportSedan for 1959

Oldsmobile's distinctively styled and attractively different Dynamic "88" Holiday SportSedan for 1959 represents "family-sized" transportation luxury in sports car design. The thin roofline and rakish wrap-around rear window serve to accentuate the mobile appearance of Oldsmobile's "Linear Look" for 1959. Sweeping full-length along the body, the sculptured twin booms give the car a look of mobility even when parked. They also highlight Oldsmobile's unique two-tone styling for 1959. Recessed in the smart grille, the four-beam headlamps are located closer-to-the-road for improved nighttime visibility. The SportSedan body style also is available in the "98" and Super "88" series. Increased interior roominess is a feature of all 1959 Oldsmobiles.

The 1959 Oldsmobile Will Be on Display Friday, October 3 at Canyon Motor Co.

Houston Bright Writes Textbook

Dr. Houston Bright, professor of music at West Texas State College, has written his own text book for a course in counterpoint he teaches.

The booklet, which was printed by the WT College Press, was compiled for use by music education students of WT, and is called "Elementary Counterpoint in Two Parts."

Covering a semester's work, the text will be revised and later published, Dr. Bright said.

Well known for his musical compositions, Dr. Bright has signed a contract with the Shawnee Press, giving that company first option on his new works. The company, which is publisher for Fred Waring's music, has already published four choral numbers by Dr. Bright.

These numbers include "I Hear A Voice A-Prayin'," "Walk with Peter and Paul," "What Can An Old Man Do But Die," and "The Stars Are With The Voyager."

NEW DIRECTORY

Canyon's new telephone directory will be "closing" soon. All of the names, addresses and telephone numbers of subscribers will have to be checked and re-checked for accuracy. Then the list will be sent to the printer. Within a short time, the latest edition of Canyon's best read book will be off the press and in your homes.

There's still time to add other listings to your telephone number. For example, are your teenagers listed in the telephone directory? Do you have relatives living with you who aren't presently listed? You can add their names. The cost is low. Just call the telephone business office. The number is OL5-2151. We'll be glad to tell you more about our additional directory listing service.

HOLIDAY CHEER

Weekend hunting trips, out of town football games and pleasant drives to nearby cities are just around the corner now.

If weekend excursions are on your calendar, why not let long distance give you a hand with the arrangements?

A long distance call is the easiest way I know to arrange overnight accommodations, plan visits with friends, check on ticket reservations, save time and trouble on the dozens of details that go into planning a trip.

And when you've reached your destnation, a quick call home to make sure everything's all right is worth a lot to your peace of mind. You can relax and enjoy your weekend even more.

TAKE AUTUMN INDOORS

The cool days and brilliant colors of Autumn seem to give folks extra energy for finishing up projects like redecorating and repainting around the house.

And your family's telephones shouldn't be overlooked when you bring that touch of Fall indoors. Add color phones just as you would new slip covers or curtains for perfect harmony in a favorite setting.

Cherry red, rose, rose pink and pastel yellow are Indian Summer colors that will add a note of warmth and cheer all winter. Phones in moss green, light beige and aqua blue complete color schemes with a touch of softness.

Our gleaming white phones are just the thing to fill a woman's demand for efficiency and clean style in the kitchen. Ivory and light gray are distinctive colors for the elegant touch.

Call the telephone business office today and choose your telephone colors for Autumn in the traditional table instruments of the new wall models.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

National Defense Education Bill

As many of you know, one of the final acts passed by the 85th Congress was the National Defense Education Bill. This measure was highly controversial since some thought it might tend toward federal control in our educational processes. The bill has been signed by the President, however, and whatever its merits or demerits, it is now public law.

I have received many inquiries concerning the provisions of this Act, and I feel it might be well to outline some of them to you.

The program will be administered by the Commissioner of Education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, through the appropriate State Education Agencies. There are several provisions of interest, but the one on which most questions are currently being asked is the provision for student loans.

These loans will be available to students for higher education and will be made by the educational institution itself, subject to the provisions of the law which, broadly, are:

The student must be acceptable to the college or school by virtue of completion of secondary work—in most cases a high school graduate. The student must show his actual need for the loan in order to pursue or complete his education.

The loan may be used for any subject, but special consideration will be given to students with a superior academic background who express a desire to teach in elementary or secondary schools, and to students whose academic background indicates a superior capacity or preparation in science, mathematics, engineering, or a modern foreign language.

The student loan cannot exceed $1,000 per year or $5,000 total. Repayment of the loan at 3 per cent interest must begin one year after separation from the accredited institution. Up to 50 per cent of the loan and interest is cancelled if the student pursues a vocation of full-time teacher in a public elementary or secondary school in a state for as many as five years after being separated from the college or institution.

The college will contribute 10 per cent to the student loan fund, while the federal government will contribute 90 per cent.

Any school is eligible to participate in the program, if that school is located in a state or territory of the United States; if they admit as regular students only graduates from secondary schools or the equivalent; if the school is legally authorized to provide a program of education beyond secondary education; if the school awards a bachelor's degree or provides at least a two-year program acceptable for full credit toward a bachelor's degree; if it is a public or other non-profit institution, and if it is properly accredited.

If any of you are interested in details of this program, I will be happy to supply any information I can or you can secure it from the school which you plan to attend, since the administration of the program will, for the most part, rest there.

The law also provides for a program of grants to state educational agencies to be used in local public elementary or secondary schools or junior colleges, for minor remodeling and acquisition of laboratory or other special equipment for science, mathematics, or modern foreign language teaching, as well as grants for expansion or improvement of supervisory or related services in secondary schools for science, mathematics and modern foreign languages. In addition, loans will be available to non-profit, private elementary and secondary schools for the same types of projects.

A program of National Defense Fellowships is also authorized for graduate students, particularly students interested in teaching in institutions of higher education.

There are other provisions of this new law, and I will be happy to answer any questions you might have relative to it. If you cannot get satisfactory information locally, let me know and I will try to find the answers to your questions.

Dixon-Burkett Vows Exchanged

The Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, read the nuptial service which joined Shelia LaVerne Dixon and Jimmie Lee Burkett in marriage at the Joseph A. Hill Chapel on the West Texas State College campus Sept. 19.

Parents are Mrs. Gladys Dixon of Dumas and Mr. and Mrs. John Burkett of Canyon.

The double ring service was read before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladiolus, greenery and candelabra holding aqua tapers.

Maid of honor, Judy Dixon, sister of the bride, was attired in a ballerina-length dress of aqua silk organza styled with white organza overskirt and aqua cummerbund. Her bouquet was a matching colonial arrangement.

Best man was Richard Hagar of Hereford. Ushers were Tom Lindsey of Borger and Tommy Weems of Hereford.

Given in marriage by her uncle, R. N. Cooke of Canyon, the bride wore a gown of embroidered silk organza fashioned with torso bodice, Sabrina neckline and full three-tiered skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of French tulle, trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds atop a white Bible.

A graduate of Dumas High School, Mrs. Burkett attended West Texas State College, where she was a member of Delta Zeta Chi social club and Phi Gamma Nu. She is employed by Southwestern Public Service Co. in Amarillo.

Her husband, a graduate of Hereford High School, is now attending WT. The couple is now residing in Canyon.

Beef Tops List Of USDA Foods

Beef is on the U. S. Department of Agriculture's plentiful foods list for October. It is the first such listing for this favorite meat for 1958.

October supplies of beef are expected to be seasonally large as fed cattle marketings increase and coincide with marketings of grass-fed cattle. The number of fed cattle going to market this fall is expected to exceed last fall's total, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Broilers, fryers, cheese and apples have been designated as the foods to feature in October meals because of heavier than usual supplies.

Three other meats, hens, lamb and pork, are also listed as plentiful in the southwestern area.

Other October plentifuls include small and medium eggs, potatoes, honey, canned ripe olives and peanut butter.

IS IT PROFITABLE TO

FERTILIZE

THIS FALL WITH

ANHYDROUS AMMONIA?

- - - THE ECONOMICS OF FALL APPLICATION ARE OBVIOUS——a source of nitrogen when it is available in the fall instead of when it is scarce in the spring; the saving of time and work in the busy spring season; independence from wet spring weather that may prevent fertilizing; longer grazing season and shorter feeding season for livestock (reducing the cash feed cost); faster starts and earlier markekting of crops—bigger yields from an assured nitrogen supply.

TRUTH CURES EVERYTHING

"Your wife used to be terribly nervous, and now she is as composed as a cucumber. What cured her?"

"The doctor did. He told her that her kind of nervousness was the natural result of advancing age."

If we could re-live just one single day of our life, what one would we choose?

Would it be the day we finished high school, and went to dinner with our best beau? Or the day we graduated from college and said good-bye to four years of happy memories? Our first job? Or the day we became engaged? Our wedding day? The birthday or wedding date of our firstborn?

Such high moments in our lives come easily to mind without the necessity of re-living them. In fact, we tend to remember the gay, happy things about those events, while our recall senses mercifully slur over the rough spots.

That high school boy friend, for instance, may not have been our 'secret love' at all; just the guy who happened to ask for a date that evening.

The emotions we felt at college graduation may now be changed by the realities of grownup understanding: It wasn't the end of life, as we thought, but actually the beginning.

Since the days when boys proposed to girls in kneeling position (if they ever did), many women can't remember an actual proposal of marriage. It may have been more an understanding that two people in love drifted into and took for granted. But even if there was an exact hour and romantic setting for this important decision, isn't it sweeter as a memory than as an experience to go through again?

Probably if each of us could re-live only one day, we'd choose a day of mistakes, in the hope we could correct them; a clumsy moment, when bitterness got the upper hand and we blurted out words we'd give anything to recall; a day of causing misunderstanding or of hurting a loved one.

DIFFERENT NOW

Gruff Father (to son): "Why don't you get out and find a job? When I was your age I was working for $5 a week in a shop, and at the end of five years I owned the shop."

Son: "You can't do that nowadays. They have cash registers."

Dumas - -

Dumas had a 14-0 halftime lead.

Right after the half, it looked like Canyon might get a good break. The Demons took the kick-off and moved from the Dumas 48 to the Canyon 35, only to lose the ball on a fumble.

The Eagles took over and moved almost enough for a first down, but had to kick on fourth down—a woeful one it turned out.

Boydstun kicked the ball 36 yards to the Dumas 19, and Bud White took it to his right. He raced down the sideline with a steady wall of blockers. His run didn't stop until he had reached the goal line, 81 yards away. Keeney's running try for extra points was not good, and the clock showed 9:33 left in the third quarter.

The teams kept trading the ball back and forth through the rest of the quarter and into the fourth, when Dumas had the ball and moved to the Canyon 8. At that point, the ball was fumbled and lost to Canyon.

On third down, from the six, Boydstun quick-kicked 49 yards to the Dumas 45 and Jim Tindle returned it to the Canyon 34. It was boom-boom-boom for the Demons as they capitalized on the run-back.

After two first downs and two plays, Tindle tossed to Boyd for a nine-yard passing score with 4:56 left in the game. The try for an extra point by kicking was not good.

Statistics of the game were:

Canyon		Dumas
3	First Downs	18
46	Yards Rushing	259
45	Yards Passing	26
13	Passes Tried	8
4	Passes Completed	4
0	Fumbles Lost	3
8	Punts	3
33	Average	34.3

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Although the Texas State Soil Conservation District law has only been in effect since 1939, 173 Soil Conservation Districts have been organized. District cooperators number more than 187,000, operating under 96,000,000 acres of land, about 97% of the State of Texas. All this has been accomplished on a strictly voluntary basis without any form of compulsion. Some ask how and why?

Soil Conservation work in Texas is carried out in a similar manner to the way we educate our young people. Texas law authorizes local people by petition and election to organize independent districts which are sub-divisions of the state. Each Soil Conservation District is governed by a five man board of supervisors elected by local landowners. These elected supervisors are responsible for working with all local interests in the development of the district's plan of work.

The district supervisors by agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture obtain the technical services of the USDA Soil Conservation Service to assist landowners in planning the most practical use of each acre of his land as well as the needed measures to maintain and improve the soils productive capacity.

A conservation plan includes such measures as management of rangeland to maintain a cover of desirable grasses, the provision of sod waterways to dispose of excess water from terrace outlets, the use of cover and soil improving crops on cropland as well as engineering measures such as terrace and flood detention structures.

The district supervisors also by agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture and the individual federal agencies have the assistance of the Extension Service in promoting its program, the ASC in assisting in the financing of conservation practices, the State Game Commission, the State and National Forest Services and the other state and federal agencies.

A Soil Conservation District is not an agency but it is a local subdivision of State Government. What it does and how, rests entirely with the elected supervisors, except as they are limited by Texas law.

How well the district supervisors are able to mobilize the efforts of state and federal agencies as well as individuals and local organizations and bring their resources and abilities to bear on the locally planned Soil Conservation District program determines the effectiveness of the district.

The necessity for such organization and effort is justified in terms of the extent to which soil and water resources contribute to the welfare of the people. They supply the necessities as well as the comforts and conveniences of life. Soil and water supply us with food, clothing and shelter and more than half the raw materials upon which industry operates. The total supply of productive land cannot be increased and its ability to produce can easily be decreased or destroyed. Man's ability to multiply his numbers and increase his needs through higher living standards are recognized by all.

It is commonly agreed that the maintenance and improvement of the ability of each acre of land to produce is a necessity for the welfare of all mankind.

Soil Conservation Districts seek to do through cooperation, education, individual initiative and local determination what other countries seek to do by compulsion. Time will prove the wisdom of this course.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Smith were weekend guests in the O. A. Smith home.
